SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

About Us
Founded in 1914, Loyola University Chicago’s School of Social Work educates students to become leaders in the profession. Within a learning community dedicated to excellence in scholarship and service, students select a curriculum focused on clinical, organizational, community, and social justice issues.

BSW Program
Loyola University Chicago’s School of Social Work’s Bachelor of Social Work (https://catalog.luc.edu/undergraduate/social-work/bsw-degree-program/) (BSW) program introduces students to the dynamic, changing, and challenging profession of social work. Loyola University Chicago offers a combined BSW/MSW degree that allows full-time students to complete both an undergraduate and graduate degree in social work in just five years. Students earn a BSW in Social Work degree, blending a top-quality social work curriculum with a strong liberal arts base. Because many first-year MSW requirements are completed during students’ senior year, the MSW degree portion of the program can be completed in less time than normally required to earn a master’s degree in social work.

Internships/Field Experiences
Through relationships with over 800 agencies, non-profit organizations, hospitals, and schools in the Chicagoland area, Loyola provides outstanding access to supervised internships and field experiences.

Continuing Education
The School of Social Work offers a variety of continuing education programs (https://cms4.luc.edu/socialwork/resources-initiatives/).

PRAXIS
Established in 2000, Praxis (https://cms4.luc.edu/socialwork/student-support/journals/) is one of the only student published journals of social work in the nation. The journal offers the scholarly work of students and alumni, providing a forum for the expression of diverse viewpoints and timely research.
