It is the personal responsibility of each student to actively know all the pertinent regulations set forth in the Undergraduate Studies Catalog.

Within the various undergraduate schools and college, the only official interpretation or modification of academic regulations are those which are made in writing by the Dean of the school or college of which the student is a member.

This catalog lists the approved courses for the plan of study during the published Catalog Year. A current Loyola student's degree requirements are based on when the major or minor was officially declared, and may differ from what is shown in this document. Loyola students should work with their academic advisor and refer to My Academic Requirements in LOCUS for their individualized lists of approved courses. Final confirmation of all degree requirements is subject to department, school, and university approval.

Loyola University Chicago will not discriminate in its programs and activities on the basis of race, color, religion, national origins, sex, age, ancestry, marital status, sexual orientation, arrest record, military status or unfavorable military discharge, physical or mental handicap or disability.

Loyola University Chicago complies with the provisions of the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 ("FERPA") when releasing personally identifiable information concerning students. FERPA stipulates that a student's education record is confidential information and must not be released without prior written consent of the student. FERPA does permit the release of "Directory Information." Directory information is information which would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. Students have the right to withhold "directory Information." However, the student should consider the consequences of such a request as Loyola University Chicago will honor the request, until removed in writing by the student. Loyola University Chicago has determined directory information to consist of a student's:
